"IT'S DELAMORE – so it must be summer!"

Delamore, an imposing house set on the fringes of Dartmoor, was built in 1859. The superb gardens which are rarely open to the public were laid out at a similar time and have undergone major restoration in recent times. Seen at their best during May, they are an ideal backdrop for sculpture large and small, from Henry Moore Foundation grant recipients to emerging artists. The light rooms make a superb gallery for paintings and indoor sculptures. Open every day in May, come and browse and perhaps buy one of the many pieces created by local, national, and international artists. Also visit Dartmoor's newest "prehistoric" artefact, the incredible Cromlech!

Delamore Arts welcomes the South West Academy of Fine & Applied Art - Academician's Annual Exhibition - in the brand new Stables Gallery

Images: Front: Graham Lester. 'Love Bananas', paper sculpture. Above: Callie Jones. 'The Powder House', linocut. Right: Philip Ross, 'Mercy', Maltese limestone.

PAINTINGS & SCULPTURE

Superb works from over a hundred sculptors and painters will be represented and on display in the house and gardens, including a sculpture trail to the Delamore Gallery close by, home to the South West Academy Exhibition. There can be few better settings than Delamore in which to admire the work of some of our finest artists.
